MAY RESULT IN LOCAL COUNCIL

Pig Roast Tonight May Accomplish
Thorough Organization of Boy
Scout Movement Here.

VALUE OF IT TO BOYS SHOWN

Purely Non-Sectarian, it Seeks to Supplement Activities of Other
Activities of Boys.

The pig roast for men and boys which will be given in the basement of the Main Street Christian church tonight is expected to result in the formation of a Boy Scouts local council, which is part of the organization and which acts in an advisory way.

Clarence E. Waldon, who is solely responsible for the present organization of Boy Scouts here is endeavoring to interest enough men in the movement to place it on a firm basis

"We want to make boys know," said Mr. Waldon today, "that they have the backing of more than one man. We want to make them feel that men are interested in their activities."

Mr. Waldon received his certificate as Scout Commissioner on a showing that there was a troop committee. Prof. J. H. Scholl, B. O. Simpson and George C. Wyatt have been acting in that capacity.

The Boy Scout movement has the endorsement of the most prominent men in the world. Mr. Waldon feels that when the organization is more thoroughly understood here, it will have the unqualified support of the men of Rushville who have any interest whatever in the future men of Rushville.

The Scout movement is world wide in its conception. The handbook of the organization says it is needed because the boys of today do not have the chance, as did the boys of the past, most of whom grew up in the country, to become strong, self-reliant and resourceful.

In its relation to other organizations, the Boy Scouts of America is rather a movement than an organization. It is to supplement the work of other organizations by widening and deepening every point of contact which the other organizations seek with the boy's life.

The movement, Mr. Waldon points out is purely non-military, although it instills in boys military virtues such as obedience, patriotism, loyalty and honor. The military, the patrol and the drill are not for military tactics, the Scout handbook shows, but for the unity, harmony and rhythm of spirit that boys learn in scouting.

The aim of the movement is to promote the ability in boys to do things for themselves and others. The method is summed up in the term Scoutcraft, and is a combination of observation, deduction and handiness, or the ability to do things.

The promotion of the Boy Scout movement, the handbook asserts, has been recognized as a community asset. It is the community's opportunity to reach the boy for good citizenship. The organization of the local council and the progress of its activities, is evidence to the boy who knows the Scout program, that the community is interested in him; not only interested in his education but in his play. The council of men, it is pointed out makes an asset of the boy and makes it more probable that he will be a good citizen.

There are three classes of Scouts.

A boy must pass an examination before he becomes a member of either class. After meeting certain requirements

LARGE CROWD AT SUPPER

360 People at Annual Knights of Pythias Event.

The annual basket supper for Knights and their families attracted a crowd of 360 to the K. of P. hall last night. The hall was taxed to its capacity so large was the crowd. Following the supper Harry Porter, a monologist of Indianapolis gave several sketches. Mr. Porter proved to be a clever entertainer and his stories were well received. His program was in two parts. The last was an impersonation of Abe Martin and other Brown county characters.

LETS MAN DOWN WITH LECTURE

Mayor Allows William Nicholson to go Free When he Promises to Keep Daughter in School.

CHARGE HELD AGAINST HIM

William Nicholson of South Harrison street was arraigned before Mayor Bebout this afternoon on an affidavit filed by James Miller, attendance officer, charging him with not sending his fourteen-year-old daughter Esther to school. After a severe lecture by Mayor Bebout, Nicholson was allowed to go on the promise that he would send the child to school. The charge against him was continued and in case he does not keep his word he will be brought before the mayor and fined. His wife was also warned, and if it is seen that she is responsible for the girl not attending school, an affidavit will be filed against her. According to Mr. Miller, the girl has not been in school since the mid-year promotion. The law compels him to file charges against the parents when they do not send their children to school.

TO RUN SUNDAY EXCURSIONS

Railroads Making Preparations For Busy Summer.

The railroads are making preparations now for many Sunday excursions this summer. These will start the first Sunday in June and continue until September. Some of the roads are planning a slightly more extensive program in these Sunday low rate trains, but most of them will offer the same as in 1913. J. C. Kelley, of Cincinnati, advertising agent of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the B. & O. is in Chicago now looking after the lithographing and printing of circulars for the excursions to be run over these lines. The other roads are getting their "literature" ready in expectation of an unusually busy Sunday traffic.

WILL INVESTIGATE CASE

Dr. Will C. Smith, county health officer, went to Manilla this afternoon to investigate a reported case of small pox. It was reported to him that Oscar Kuhns of near Manilla is suffering from the disease and the health officer will look into the case to satisfy his own mind. According to the report that reached here the man has been ill for over a week and is reported to have been exposed to the disease which is prevalent in Shelby county. Dr. Smith does not believe it is small pox.

4 REASONS FOR BELIEVING GOD

Advanced by the Rev. L. A. Harriman at St. Paul M. E. Church Revival Now in Progress.

SACREDNESS STILL EXISTS

Speaker Declares His Belief in Divinity of Christ—Will Preach Again Tonight.

The revival meetings at the St. Paul Methodist church are growing in attendance and in interest. Last night the attendance was the best since the meeting began. There was a deep interest also in the singing and the preaching.

The Rev. Mr. Harriman preached the sermon, the text being, Acts 27:25, "Wherefore be of Good Cheer For I Believe God." The words were spoken by Paul to cheer up those who were shipwrecked with him.

The speaker said he liked the words for they savored of the salt air and the sea breeze. He compared the storm to the storm in present day theological thought and spoke of the danger to which Christian belief was continually subjected.

First, he said he believed in the Scriptures. Modern thinking had changed our ideas of the Bible and our interpretations, yet we were warranted in still believing in the sacredness of this book he declared. It was as a message from God despite its inaccuracies, and new interpretations, he added.

In the second place, he said he believed in the divinity of Christ. There was a tendency in modern thought to strip Christ of his divinity, but he must be more than a man if he is to save men declared Mr. Harriman.

"He believed also in the welfare of the righteous," continued the speaker. "The way for the righteous was straight and narrow. It was a way of self-denial and sacrifice. Yet it was the best way and should be coveted by all."

Last of all he believed in the punishment of the wicked. He did not believe in a literal fire and brimstone, but he thought the wicked could be assured that there was a hell of some kind for them. The fact was, he said, that they would take their hell with them.

This afternoon Mr. Harriman conducted the daily bible reading. His subject was "The Law of Service." The attendance was large. Tonight Mr. Harriman will preach again. His subject will be, "The Most Astonishing Statement in the Bible." He will also sing "The Pilot Song."

INDICTMENT FALLS FLAT

Grand Jury Charge Against Milroy Man Dismissed in Court Today.

The cases against George Root and John Jackman of Milroy, charged with public intoxication, which were to have been heard today by Judge Megee, were dismissed on motion of Prosecutor Smith this morning when they were called. In the written motion to dismiss Prosecutor Smith told the court that after investigating the charges he did not believe there was sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction. The men were indicted by the grand jury at the September term of court.

"PALL" TURNS BIG FLIP FLOP

Richmond Newspaper Comes to Sudden Conclusion That Finly Gray Will be Nominated.

STOOD FOR HIM 4 YEARS AGO

But Few Months Ago Announced There Was a Great Uprising Against Him—Sudden Change.

The Richmond Palladium has turned a sudden flip flop and is now certain that Finly Gray will be nominated for congress by the Democrats of the sixth district at the convention which will be held in Cambridge City Tuesday, March 31. The Palladium said so yesterday.

The Palladium fought Gray's battles for him when he was first a candidate, favoring him as to the Republican candidate. Last year the Palladium stood for the Progressive candidate and a few months ago the Palladium decided there was a great uprising against Gray all over the district. The Palladium was certain he could never be nominated.

Then there was a lull. It has extended over a period of several weeks. Yesterday the extreme quiet was broken. With the three column "spread" on the front page, in black face type, the Palladium announced: "Gray Whips Enemies; Democratic Congressman Holds District, Stifles Opposition by Effective Work, As-sured of His Nomination March 31; County Workers Placated."

And so it runs. The Palladium devotes a column and a half on the front page to the story. No one will likely attempt to account for the sudden change of sentiment on the part of the Palladium. There is no sign here that the opposition to Gray has lessened in the least. The Palladium says in part:

Finly Gray, of Connersville, member of congress from the Sixth Indiana district, will again, for the third time, be the Democratic candidate for congressman. Furthermore, there is every indication he will be renominated without opposition. These predictions are justified by the result of a careful investigation of political conditions throughout the district.

No longer than a month ago there was determined opposition to the re-nomination of Mr. Gray, for various reasons, but this has disappeared. Democratic leaders confidently assert. Hence the certainty that his name will be the only one presented for the nomination at the congressional convention to be held at Cambridge City, March 31.

Mr. Gray stamped out the revolt against him, however, only after considerable activity on his part, and it is no secret, that for a time that he was greatly alarmed for fear his political future had gone on the rocks. He rallied his office holders to his rescue, and considerable missionary work finally saved the day.

The greatest opposition to Mr. Gray was in Wayne county. His Richmond postoffice appointment made some enemies for him, other party leaders took up arms against him for his break on the congressional wedding gift for Miss Wilson.

Lon Mull of Rush county, who has heard the buzzing of the congressional bee for several years, stood ready to take the field against Gray if a satisfactory opportunity ever presented itself, but when he saw the masterful way Mr. Gray waged war against his opponents, he wisely decided that the time was not ripe

ACQUITTAL IS EXPECTED

Verdict in Gilbert Arson Case is Anticipated by Tonight.

(By United Press.)

Evansville, Ind., Mar. 13.—A verdict of acquittal in the Gilbert arson case was expected this afternoon when the jury took the case. Dr. William H. Gilbert was ably assisted today by Miss Jessie Shawler of New York, with whom he had been keeping company before the trial. She testified that the night of the fire that burned the sanatorium, Dr. Gilbert was attending her mother and that he remained at Mrs. Shawler's bedside several nights previous to the fire. Miss Shawler made a good impression on the jury. The defense closed its case early this afternoon.

MEXICAN BANDITS KILL MAN IN HOLDUP

Three of Four Who Attempt to Stop Train in Illinois Today Are Captured After Battle.

THE SECOND VICTIM MAY DIE

BULLETIN.

Peoria, Ill., Mar. 13.—In a hand to hand encounter with members of the pursuing party, the third member of a gang of four Mexicans who shot and killed Art Fisher and wounded two deputy sheriffs was captured in a corn field near noon today. Bloodhounds are following the fourth member.

(By United Press.)

Peoria, Ill., Mar. 13.—Surrounded by a posse of sheriffs in a corn field near Manlius, Ill., a Mexican bandit, one of four who shot and killed Art Fisher of Pekin, Ill., engineer for the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, and wounded two officers, when they held up a freight train early today, is making a desperate fight against capture. Two other members of the band were wounded by the officers' bullets and were captured. They are being rushed to Princeton, Ill., in an auto to escape lynching at the hands of angry citizens.

The two posse members wounded in the gun battle that followed the holdup are Leslie Byers, son of Sheriff Charles Byers of Princeton, and Bert Skoglund, a deputy sheriff of Princeton. Skoglund was shot in the neck and shoulder and is believed to be dying. Young Byers was shot through the leg and will recover.

PRISONERS ENGAGE IN MORTAL COMBAT

Man Awaiting Trial For Murder Disembowels Cell Mate in Terre Haute Jail Today.

CUTS THROAT; BOTH WILL DIE

(By United Press.)

Terre Haute, Ind., Mar. 13.—Two prisoners in the county jail here who engaged in mortal combat today were taken to the hospital, both in a dying condition. William Jacobs, awaiting trial on a murder charge, attacked Lewis Stupor with a razor, practically disemboweling him. Jacobs then cut his own throat.

Officials did not know how Jacobs got the razor nor what the men quarreled about. They have occupied the same cell for some time. Stupor had been convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to prison.

DEPOSITIONS ARE ACCEPTED

Testimony of Persons Not in Congregation of Bloomington Pastor Reported to be Heard.

TRIAL ON AT MARTINSVILLE

Understood Prosecution Closed at Noon and Case Will End Tonight—Verdict is Uncertain.

(By United Press.)

Martinsville, Ind., Mar. 13.—The trial of the Rev. John R. Ellis before the Indianapolis Presbytery on the charge that he had conducted himself questionably with regard to young women in Bloomington where he was the pastor of a fashionable church, continued today with unabated secrecy.

It leaked out that the committee had accepted the depositions of witnesses not of the pastor's congregation and it also was believed the prosecution closed at noon, though this could not be stated with certainty.

Many believed that the trial would be closed tonight though no assurance could be given a verdict would be forthcoming.

Martinsville, Ind., Mar. 13.—The commission appointed by the Indianapolis Presbytery to hear the charges against the Rev. John R. Ellis, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Bloomington, after hearing testimony all day yesterday, went into executive session last night to decide whether to admit the sworn statements of a number of Bloomington residents as testimony. Included in the depositions were three from Bloomington women.

The Rev. Mr. Ellis resigned his pastorate at Bloomington last fall after an investigation had been made concerning his conduct with women of that city.

The special commission decided to

The Double Guarantee

When you buy a standard, nationally advertised article from a merchant of standing and character you are buying with double protection to yourself.

You have a double guarantee to fall back on—that of the manufacturer and that of the man who sells the goods.

You of course have to deal only with the store from which you buy; the store, in turn, looks to the manufacturer to make good for any deficiency.

It is not often that anyone will have need of the guarantee; for when a thing is sold by such open and above-board methods it is going to be as nearly right as it can possibly be made.

There is a protection in buying advertised goods that there isn't in buying those which are not advertised.

The best guide to reliable buying is the advertising in live newspapers like The Daily Republican.

More people are reading advertising every day because it pays.

CASE AGAINST WAGONER HEARD

Knightstown Woman Seeks to Recover Judgment From Former Marshal.

BONDSMAN IS ALSO PARTY

Evidence Shows "Coony" Reiser Had Planned to Make His Get-Away—Before Special Judge.

The case of Miss Mary C. Shaeffer of Knightstown against the Fidelity Deposit Company of Maryland and Peter Wagoner, former marshal of Knightstown, for $300, which represents the costs and the judgment rendered Miss Shaeffer recently against Earl ("Coony") Reiser on a paternity charge, was heard in circuit court today before Special Judge M. E. Forkner, says the Newcastle Courier.

The case of Miss Mary C. Shaeffer of Knightstown against the Fidelity Deposit Company of Maryland and Peter Wagoner, former marshal of Knightstown, for $300, which represents the costs and the judgment rendered Miss Shaeffer recently against Earl ("Coony") Reiser on a paternity charge, was heard in circuit court today before Special Judge M. E. Forkner, says the Newcastle Courier.

Last June a paternity charge was sworn out against Reiser and he was placed under arrest and taken before Rufe Davis, justice of the peace in Wayne township. He was bound over to the Henry circuit court to face a paternity charge. On the way from the court room Reiser made his escape. Judgment was rendered against him in circuit court here later, but he could not be found.

In order to collect the judgment, action was then brought against Wagoner and his bondsmen for the amount of the judgment on the grounds that Wagoner was negligent and allowed Reiser to escape.

During the trial of the case today it developed that Reiser had already made his plans to escape from the marshal and that his father, William Reiser, had engaged Fred Dalrymple, a liveryman, to meet his son north of the city. Dalrymple took the stand and acknowledged that he had driven Reiser to Shirley, where he was met by two men, who drove him to Lebanon. It is not known where Reiser is at this time.

Because of the questions of law involved in the case attorneys in the city are interested, as it is not very often that an officer is sued on a bond when a prisoner escapes. Wagoner claims that he allowed the prisoner to go into a rear room of O'Neill's pool room and that Reiser took the advantage and left. Charles Martin, a

Milady Will Be Ruffles from Top to Toe If She Follows Dame Fashion

By Margaret Mason

(Written for United Press.)

She ruffles her coats and she ruffles her frocks

She ruffles her hats and they ruffle her locks

She ruffles her sleeves and her bodice so low

While her temper is easily ruffled also.

New York, March 13.—To be fashionable you must be ruffled up from top to toe. We have been straight lined and slimsey and sleek so long that once the break was made there has been a mad revolt from the straight and narrow. The consequence is an amazing eruption of ruffles on all the Spring frocks and hats.

While most of the ruffling on the gowns catches you on the hip following the approved hippy out line of the tunic, puff and pannier, others begin at the knee and take a crooked and bias path to the waist line.

Some of the ruffles have even dared to break into that narrow zone about the ankles and on some of the newest taffeta models they ripple three deep about the feet bounded only by the straight and narrow, plain uncompromising hem.

For the skirt ruffles, net or the taffeta, from which the entire gown is built, are the approved materials. For the wrist ruffles and those outlining the low bodices the same materials are the thing, although lace is also popular. The neck frills evolved from the taffeta medium are very chic but not as full as those of the thinner fabrics.

The new suit coats are all cut with a flaring circular ruffle around the bottom when the suit is of serge or the heavier twilled silks. When the suit is of the omnipresent taffeta the coats are finished with ruffles as full and flamboyant as the law allows.

Separate silk wraps of flowered or plain silk are very quaint with kimono top and deep ruffles two or three deep set on from the yoke line to the finish. The loose sleeves of these wraps end in deep ruffles while an upstanding one finishes the neck.

As for the hats the small turban shapes almost all boast an upstanding frill of either taffeta or net while the brimmed ones have ruffles of lace net or taffeta gathered around their crowns and fluffily veiling their brims.

When you have donned a suit whose short jacket is finished with two fitted circular ruffles and whose skirt is just one fitted circular flounce after another, then topped it off with a tiny turban of hemp with an upstanding frill of black net, you certainly present a fashionable but scarcely a calm and unruffled appearance.

Hardly in the hat class but still something that goes to your head is the new tulle halo made up for all fashionable sinners in imitation of saintlier models. It is fashioned of a tulle frill that stands out from the face in the most approved fashion. Since we have taken to halos it is no wonder that waistlines are again striving to lead higher life. For evening gowns and in fact for all dressy occasions the high waist is again de rigueur although the normal line still clings triumphant about your middle for middle day wear.

After the surfeit of wide girdles and sashes galore it is a promised relief from monotony that many Parisian dressmakers and designers are now favoring narrow inch-and-a-half girdles or rather belts and in many instances no girdle at all but simply a line of joining between the blouse and skirt. Of course the girdles will not submit to annihilation without struggle and so it is putting forth new lures and fascinations to hold its devotees.

Not the least of these charmers is a girdle composed of two and three shades or contrasting colors. One in a sweet pea shade of pink is adorable. In three shades of green, yellow, or American beauty tints these girdles are indeed lovely and it is well to have at least one about you even if the rest of your wardrobe is girdleless.

It is sad to relate, but waistlines on sport and top coats absolutely refuse to be elevated like the rest of their ilk. They have sunk to the lowest depths. Even the belts that hang around them have fallen into their low ways and slump loosely and discouragingly in the rear.

GAIN OF A BILLION DOLLARS

Miscellaneous Manufactures, Chiefly Iron and Steel, are Largest Contributors to Gain.

[Special to the Daily Republican.]

Washington, March 13—Exports of merchandise from the United States made a greater advance during the last ten years than in the 30 years from 1873 to 1903. In 1873 the total exports were valued at 568 million dollars; in 1903, 1,485 million; and 1913, 2,484 million—a gain of 917 million in the 30 years from 1873 to 1903, and of approximately one billion dollars in the 10 years ended with December last.

To this gain of practically one billion dollars in foreign sales of American products during the decade ended with December, raw cotton and miscellaneous manufactures chiefly of iron and steel, copper, wood and mineral oil, were the large contributors, the five classes named representing about one-half of the total increase during the period named.

The ten leading classes of articles exported from the United States in 1913, arranged in order of magnitude and stated in millions of dollars, are reported by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce as follows: Raw cotton, 575; iron and steel, 204; breadstuffs, 203; meat and dairy products, 161; mineral oils, 149; copper, 145; wood manufactures, 110; coal and coke, 71; leather and leather goods, 60; and tobacco, raw and manufactured, 60. When to this group are added cars and carriages, 58 million dollars; cotton goods, 56; agricultural implements and machinery, 35; fruits and nuts, 34; electrical machinery and appliances, 28; chemical drugs and medicines, 27; naval stores, 22; vegetable oils, 21; paper manufactures thereof, 21; India rubber manufactures, 14; and fertilizers, 12 million dollars, about 90 per cent. of the aggregate

Increased exports are common to all branches of American manufactures. One of the largest gains occurred in cars and carriages which quintupled during the decade, chiefly due to the rapid development of the automobile industry during the last ten years. Electrical machinery trebled, cotton goods doubled, leather and manufactures thereof practically doubled, and agricultural implements, paper manufactures, and naval stores each increased about 50 per cent. India-rubber manufactures are two and a half times as great as in 1903; fruits and nuts, about 70 per cent. more than a decade ago; and proprietary medicines are being exported in constantly increasing quantities.

Europe is the primary destination of about three-fifths of our total exports. The total to that grand division in 1913 was 14 billion dollars, and to all other parts of the world, about 1 billion. To North America the exports aggregated 601 million dollars, of which two-thirds went to Canada; to South America, 147 million, chiefly to Argentina and Brazil; to Asia, 126 million, of which one-half to Japan and one-fifth to China; to Oceania, 82 million, chiefly to Australia and the Philippines; and to Africa, 29 million dollars.

exportation of the year has been accounted for.

Raw cotton easily maintained its leading position in the list of American exports. On the other hand, breadstuffs fell from second position in 1903 to third in 1913; and meat and dairy products, from third position to fourth, each of these groups having been passed meantime by iron and steel, which advanced from fourth to second place during the decade.

Comparing the figures of 1913 with those of 1903, raw cotton exports gained 196 million dollars, or 52 per cent. this being a natural result of the world's increasing consumption of cotton goods, for the manufacture of which the United States supplies over two-thirds of the raw material. Iron and steel manufacturers gained 195 million dollars, or about 200 per cent. machinery and engines being the largest factors. Mineral oils made an advance of 76 million dollars, or over 100 per cent.; copper manufacturers, 101 million, or 200 per cent.; and wood manufacturers, 52 million dollars, or about 90 per cent. Breadstuffs barely held their own in value of exports during the decade, with a gain of 3 million dollars; and but for the marked advance in barley, oats, and rice would have actually declined, since the exports of corn fell from 95 to 47 million and those of wheat from 160 to 155 million bushels during the decade. Meat and dairy products fell in value of exports from 181 to 161 million dollars during the period under review, and cattle from 38 to 1 million dollars. There was no corresponding decrease in production of breadstuffs and food animals, and the smaller exportation are therefore due, in large measure, to the increasing proportion of the population engaged in manufacture, transportation, and the nonproductive industries, thus leaving a smaller proportion available for agricultural pursuits.

In giving lists of stock in the new blank there are three questions that are now believed necessary. They ask for listing of the number of horses, mules and cows under one year old. There were three questions which asked the number of horses, mules and cows more than one year old in the old blank.

Down below on the first blank of the sheet under these first two changes will be found another change, which, while it does not effect the property owners so greatly will avoid the possibility of his being taxed twice for property improvements.

In the past there has been a blank space to list a total of personal property and also below it a place for listing additional improvements to realty. These improvements when made are listed in the auditor's office and are there listed for taxation, without thinking, the assessors takes the assessment list filled out by the property owner and makes a total of the personal property and the "additional improvements." The property owner is taxed on that total. Thus he has twice been taxed for "Additional improvements."

Questions No. 20, "Number of maple sugar equipment and value"; No. 22, "Number of cider mills and presses and value"; No. 25, "Number of fanning mills and value" are new. They have not been on the list until this year.

And therein lies a trap for some of the tax dodgers. They must answer that question and they cannot answer it any way except, truthfully. If the wrong place of assessment is given in answer to that question it will be easily discovered by the assessor, in going back to last year to see if anything scheduled last year has been left out of this year's schedule.

This is a new question. The form of this question before has been:

"Where did you live last fall?"

Exceptions were taken to the old question. No one cares where the property owner lived. The assessment was not made at that time and the property owner might have lived in California even though he had been assessed in Jackson township in March last year.

In giving the name and address on the assessment list this year there must be specific notation of whether the property owner lives in the township and there has been much confusion and difficulty in tracing assessments and ownership of property in the past. In the old assessment list blanks there was provision only

Seven Keys TO Balldate

CHAPTER XXIII.

Exuent Omnes.

THE professor looked up from his griddlecakes.

"Why limit it to the country?" he asked. "I should say you were too parsimonious in your judgment."

Mrs. Quimby, detecting in the old man's words a compliment, flushed an even deeper red as she bent above the stove.

"It's so seldom anything really happens around here," she said, "I just been hungering for news of the strange goings on up there. And I must say Quimby ain't been none too newsy on the subject. I threatened to come up and join in the proceedings myself, especially when I heard about the book writing cook Providence had sent you."

"You would have found us on the porch with outstretched arms," Mr. Magee assured her.

It was on Kendrick that Mrs. Quimby showered her attentions, and when the group rose to seek the station, amid a consultation of watches that recalled the commuter who rises at dawn to play tag with a flippant train, Mr. Magee heard her say to the rail-road man in a heartfelt aside:

"I don't know as I can ever thank you enough, Mr. Kendrick, for putting new hope into Quimby. You'll never understand what it means when you have given up and your life seems all done and wasted, to hear that there's a chance left."

"Won't I?" replied Kendrick warmly. "Mrs. Quimby, it will make me a very happy man to give your husband his chance."

The first streaks of dawn were in the sky when the hermits of Balldate filed through the gate into the road, waving goodby to Quimby and his wife, who stood in their dooryard for the farewell.

In the station Mr. Magee encountered an old friend—he of the mop of ginger colored hair. The man who had complained of the slowness of the village gazed with wide eyes at Magee.

"I figured," he said, "that you'd come this way again. Well, I must say you've put a little life into this place. If I'd known when I saw you here the other night all the exciting things you had up your sleeve I'd a-gone right up to Balldate with you."

"But I hadn't anything up my sleeve," protested Magee.

"Maybe," replied the agent, winking.

"There's some pretty giddy stories going around about the carryings on up at Balldate—shots fired and strange lights flashing. Doggone it! The only thing that's happened here in years, and I wasn't on it. I certainly wish you'd put me wise to it."

Two drooping figures entered the station—the mayor and his faithful lieutenant, Max. The dignity of the former had faded like a flower, and the same withered simile might have been applied with equal force to the accusomed jauntness of Lou.

They filed out upon the platform. Mr. Magee carrying Mrs. Norton's luggage amid her effusive thanks. On the platform waited a stranger equipped for travel. It was Mr. Max who made the discovery.

"By the Lord Harry!" he cried. "It's the hermit of Balldate mountain!"

And so it was, his beard gone, his hair clumsily hacked, his body garbed in the height of an old and ludicrous fashion, his face set bravely toward the cities once more.

"Tell me," he asked, "is this the admiral's game of solitaire?"

"Exactly what I was going to ask," said a voice. Magee looked up. Kendrick had come in and stood now above the table. His tired eyes were upon it, fascinated; his lips twitched strangely.

"Yes," answered the mayor, "this is the admiral's game. You'd hardly expect me to know it, would you? I don't hang out at the swell clubs where the admiral does. They won't have me there. But once I took the admiral on a public service board with me—one time when I wanted a lot of dignity and no brains pretty bad—and he sort of come back by teaching me his game in the long dull hours when we had nothing to do but serve the public. The thing gets a hold on you, somehow. Let's see—now the spade—now the heart."

Kendrick leaned closer. His breath came with a noisy quickness that brought the fact of his breathing inconsistently to Magee's mind.

"I never knew how it was played," he said.

Something told Mr. Magee that he ought to rise and drag Kendrick away from that table. Why? He did not know. Still, it ought to be done. But the look in Kendrick's eyes showed clearly that the proverbial wild horses could not do it then.

"Tell me how it's played," went on Kendrick, trying to be calm.

"You must be getting old," replied the mayor. "The admiral told me the young men at his club never took any interest in his game. Solitaire," he said.

much. The excitement, the talk—it did for me, did for my oath. So I'm going back to her—back to Brooklyn for Christmas."

"A merry one to you," growled Carson.

"Maybe," replied Mr. Peters. "Very likely, if she's feeling that way. I hope so. I ain't giving up the hermit job altogether—I'll come back in the summers to my postcard business. There's money in it if it's handled right. But I've spent my last winter on that lonesome hill."

"As author to author," asked Magee, "how about your book?"

"There won't be any mention of that," the hermit predicted. "In Brooklyn, I've packed it away. Maybe I can work on it summers if she doesn't come up here with me and insist on running my hermit business for me. I hope she won't, it would sort of put a crimp in it, but if she wants to I won't refuse. And maybe that book'll never get done. Sometimes as I've sat in my shack at night and read it's come to me that all the greatest works since the world began have been those that never got finished."

The Reuton train roared up to them through the gray morning and paused impatiently at Upper Asqueau Falls. Aboard it clambered the hermits, amateur and professional. Mr. Magee from the platform waved goodby to the agent standing forlorn in the station door. He watched the building until it was only a blur in the dawn. A kindly feeling for it was in his heart. After all, it had been in the waiting room. Then he started for the smoker. On his way he paused at the seat occupied by the ex-hermit of Balldate and fixed his eyes on the pale blue necktie Mr. Peters had resurrected for his return to the world of men.

"Pretty, ain't it?" remarked the hermit, seeing whither Mr. Magee's gaze drifted. "She picked it. I didn't exactly like it when she first gave it to me, but I see my mistake now. I'm wearing it home as a sort of a white flag of truce—or almost white. Do you know, Mr. Magee, I'm somewhat nervous about what I'll say when I come into her presence again—about my inaugural address, you might put it. What would be your conversation on such an occasion? If you'd been away from a wife for five years what would you say when you drifted back?"

"That would depend," replied Magee, "on the amount of time she allowed me for my speech."

"You've hit the nail on the head," replied Mr. Peters admiringly. "She's quick. She's like lightning. She won't give me any time if she can help it. That's why I'd like to have a wonderful speech all ready—something that would hold her spellbound and tongue tied until I finished. It would take a literary classic to do that."

"What you want," laughed Magee, "is a speech with the punch."

"Exactly," agreed Mr. Peters. "I guess I won't go over to Brooklyn the minute I hit New York. I guess I'll study the lights along the big street and brush elbows with the world a bit before I reveal myself to her. Maybe if I took in a few shows—but don't think I won't go to her. My mind is made up. And I guess she'll be glad to see me too, in her way. I got to fix it with her, though, to come back to my postcard trade in the summers. I wonder what she'll say to that. Maybe she could stay at the inn under an assumed name while I was hermiting up at the shack."

He laughed softly.

Then Mr. Magee went forward into the smoking car. Long rows of red plush seats, unoccupied save for the mayor and Max, greeted his eye. He strolled to where they sat, about halfway down the car, and lighted an after breakfast cigar.

Max slouched in the unresponsive company of a cigarette on one side of the car; across the aisle the mayor of Reuton leaned heavily above a card table placed between two seats. He was playing solitaire.

Magee looked on, only half interested. Then suddenly his interest grew.

He watched the mayor build in two piles; he saw that the deck from which he built was thick. A weird suspicion shot across his mind.

"Tell me," he asked, "is this the admiral's game of solitaire?"

"Exactly what I was going to ask," said a voice. Magee looked up. Kendrick had come in and stood now above the table. His tired eyes were upon it, fascinated; his lips twitched strangely.

"Yes," answered the mayor, "this is the admiral's game. You'd hardly expect me to know it, would you? I don't hang out at the swell clubs where the admiral does. They won't have me there. says to me, is an old man's trade. It's a great game, Mr. Kendrick."

"A great game," repeated Kendrick.

"Yes, it's a great game." His tone was dull. "I want to know how it's played," he said again.

"The six of clubs," reflected the mayor, throwing down another card.

"Say, she's fine now. There ain't much to it. You use two decks, exactly alike, shuffle 'em together—the eight of hearts, the jack of—say, that's great! You lay the cards down here just as they come, like this—"

He paused. His huge hand held a giddily pasteboard. A troubled look was on his face. Then he smiled happily and went on in triumph.

"And then you build, Mr. Kendrick," he said, "the reds and the blacks. You build the blacks on the left and the reds on the right. Do you get me? Then—say, what's the matter?"

For Kendrick had swayed, and almost fallen on the admiral's game—the game that had once sent a man to hell.

"Go on!" he said, bracing. "Nothing's the matter. Go on! Build, dash it, build!"

The mayor looked at him a moment in surprise, then continued.

"Now the king," he muttered, "now the ace. We're on the home stretch. Going strong. There's it's finished. It's come out right. A great game, I tell you."

Professor Bolton pushed open the mayor's door and sat down.

Cargan leaned back. Kendrick's feverish face was like a bronze mask. His eyes were fiercely on the table and the two decks of cards that lay there.

"And when you've finished," he pointed.

"When you've finished," he said.

Mr. Cargan picked up the deck on the left.

"All black," he said, "when the game comes out right."

"And the other?" Kendrick persisted softly. He pointed to the remaining deck. A terrible smile of understanding drew his thin lips taut. "And the other, Mr. Cargan?"

"Red," replied Cargan. "What else could it be? All red."

He picked it up and shuffled through it to prove his point. Kendrick turned like a drunken man and staggered back down the aisle. Magee rose and hurried after him. At the door he turned and the look on his face caused Magee to shudder.

"The Greatest Kidney Remedy on Earth," Says A Grateful Woman.

I want to tell you how much good your Swamp-Root did me. About four years ago, I suffered from what the doctors called fistula and for two years of that time, I endured what no tongue can tell. I also had inflammation of the bladder and I tried doctors' medicines without receiving any help. Someone told me about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

After giving it a thorough trial, I received relief, so kept on using it and today I am a strong and well woman. If I ever feel badly or out of sorts, I take Swamp-Root and it always straightens me out. I honestly believe that this medicine would cure all troubles you recommend it for and it is a pleasure for me to send my testimony and photograph to you. I think Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is one of the greatest medicines on earth.

Respectfully yours,

MRS. JOHN BAILY,

WORDS FROM HOMEStatements That May be Investigated. Testimony of Rushville Citizens.

When a Rushville citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Doan's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Rushville resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

M. Conner, 1001 N. Harrison St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I had back-ach and pains through my loins and my kidneys were irregular in action. Hearing about Doan's Kidney Pills, I used them. They stopped the pains and regulated the kidney action."

All others were barred from the meeting and the sessions were behind locked doors.

Prof. Ramsey acted as prosecutor for the congregation and was assisted by Prof. Williams. Edward Ellis, son of the minister, a law student of Indiana University, acted as attorney for his father. The greater part of yesterday afternoon was taken up in the opening statements made by Profs. Williams and Ramsey, who outlined the case. Each spoke about two hours and were frequently interrupted by the minister, who fired questions at them.

MILROY LOST.

(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., Mar. 13.—The Milroy high school was put out of the running for the state championship in the first game it played, going down in defeat before the Albion high school, 64 to 8. The Milroy team was outclassed and the score against them was the second largest of the day. The game was played at ten o'clock this morning.

Connersville was also eliminated by Mareo, 34 to 10.

By H. T. Sullivan

(Written for United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., March 13—Dopesters have thrown reams of paper into the discard and worn out dozens of lead pencils trying to figure out what high school basketball team would carry off the state championship tomorrow night in the state tournament which opened here at 7 o'clock this morning. After all their figuring of percentages and comparative playing they shake their heads and say some team representing a village, unheard of before, may take that occasion to put its town on the athletic map, as did Wingate last year.

Some of the seventy-seven teams entered, the faculty managers and supporters began to arrive early yesterday. Shortly before noon today more than 2,000 rooters and players were here to participate in the greatest high school athletic event ever pulled off in the state. High school colors ran riot and mixed with the decorations of the business houses down town, which displayed the cream and crimson of Indiana university and the Purple and white of the Bloomington high school.

Entertainments of the visitors has proved a difficult problem for the Booster's club for the University to handle. Fraternities, sororities, dormitories, and student rooming houses are packed. Local hotels are turning away applicants for rooms after filling the halls with cots. The people of the city, at the request of the Commercial club, have thrown open their homes in an effort to shelter and feed the large crowd of visitors.

Playing began on floors at 7 o'clock this morning. The teams are using the men's gymnasium, the auditorium of the Student Building, the women's gymnasium and the armory, which is a mile from the university. All are in good condition and should afford each team an opportunity to show its full strength.

Practically all of the seventy-seven teams are conceded to have a chance. Many surprises are expected. Teams which have gone through the season with records that look good on paper are expected to collapse while some who do not look so good on the dope sheet are expected to finish high.

Evansville, New Orleans, Lafayette, Decatur, Anderson, Fairmount, Culver, Crawfordsville and Bloomington are entering the meet with unusually strong teams and expect to be runners up. While Wingate is not expected to carry off the championship again, dopesters all over the state have their eyes on Stonebreaker, the giant center who tossed the championship to his team last year.

Orleans enters the tourney with a perfect score having won every game on the schedule. The fast Evansville squad has defeated practically all the strongest teams in the southern part of the state. Bedford alone defeating them early in the season. Lafayette has been showing class recently taking in the South Bend five which was a strong bidder for honors last year.

Decatur has the strongest team in the history of the school losing only to Bluffton and Marion early in the season. Marion and Kokomo have been playing games that will make them difficult propositions to eliminate. Fairmount has been defeating some of the strongest teams in the state with comparative ease and is expected to climb several rungs toward the final contest.

Playing on floors that are familiar to the Bloomington quintet, the fastest school team they have ever had, is expected to stay in the running well toward the finish. The team has played unusually fast ball and has lost only to the strongest teams by small margins. With three regulars out of the tournament Marion Training High School's hopes are almost quashed.

The team that gets off with a good start and gets the approval of the disinterested portion of the spectators is generally conceded to be the one which will receive the large mounted shield and the individual medals after the final contest tomorrow night.

MAY RESULT IN LOCAL COUNCIL

Pig Roast Tonight May Accomplish
Thorough Organization of Boy
Scout Movement Here.

VALUE OF IT TO BOYS SHOWN

Purely Non-Sectarian, it Seeks to
Supplement Activities of Other
Activities of Boys.

The pig roast for men and boys which will be given in the basement of the Main Street Christian church tonight is expected to result in the formation of a Boy Scouts local council, which is part of the organization and which acts in an advisory way.

Clarence E. Waldon, who is solely responsible for the present organization of Boy Scouts here is endeavoring to interest enough men in the movement to place it on a firm basis.

"We want to make boys know," said Mr. Waldon today, "that they have the backing of more than one man. We want to make them see that men are interested in their activities."

Mr. Waldon received his certificate as Scout Commissioner on a showing that there was a troop committee. Prof. J. H. Scholl, B. O. Simpson and George C. Wyatt have been acting in that capacity.

The Boy Scout movement has the endorsement of the most prominent men in the world. Mr. Waldon feels that when the organization is more thoroughly understood here, it will have the unqualified support of the men of Rushville who have any interest whatever in the future men of Rushville.

The Scout movement is world wide in its conception. The handbook on the organization says it is needed because the boys of today do not have the chance, as did the boys of the past, most of whom grew up in the country, to become strong, self-reliant and resourceful.

In its relation to other organizations, the Boy Scouts of America is rather a movement than an organization. It is to supplement the work of other organizations by widening and deepening every point of contact which the other organizations seek with the boy's life.

The movement, Mr. Waldon points out is purely non-military, although it instills in boys military virtues such as obedience, patriotism, loyalty and honor. The military, the patrol and the drill are not for military tactics, the Scout handbook shows, but for the unity, harmony and rhythm of spirit that boys learn in scouting.

The aim of the movement is to promote the ability in boys to do things for themselves and others. The method is summed up in the term Scouting, and is a combination of observation, deduction and handiness, or the ability to do things.

The promotion of the Boy Scout movement, the handbook asserts, has been recognized as a community asset. It is the community's opportunity to reach the boy for good citizenship. The organization of the local council and the progress of its activities, is evidence to the boy who knows the Scout program, that the community is interested in him; not only interested in his education but in his play. The council of men, it is pointed out makes an asset of the boy and makes it more probable that he will be a good citizen.

There are three classes of Scouts. A boy must pass an examination before he becomes a member of either class. After meeting certain requirements

LARGE CROWD AT SUPPER

360 People at Annual Knights of Pythias Event.

The annual basket supper for Knights and their families attracted a crowd of 360 to the K. of P. hall last night. The hall was taxed to its capacity so large was the crowd. Following the supper Harry Porter, a monologist of Indianapolis gave several sketches. Mr. Porter proved to be a clever entertainer and his stories were well received. His program was in two parts. The last was an impersonation of Abe Martin and other Brown county characters.

LETS MAN DOWN WITH LECTURE

Mayor Allows William Nicholson to go Free When he Promises to Keep Daughter in School.

CHARGE HELD AGAINST HIM

William Nicholson of South Harrison street was arraigned before Mayor Bebout this afternoon on an affidavit filed by James Miller, attendance officer, charging him with not sending his fourteen-year-old daughter Esther to school. After a severe lecture by Mayor Bebout, Nicholson was allowed to go on the promise that he would send the child to school. The charge against him was continued and in case he does not keep his word he will be brought before the mayor and fined. His wife was also warned, and if it is seen that she is responsible for the girl not attending school, an affidavit will be filed against her. According to Mr. Miller, the girl has not been in school since the mid-year promotion. The law compels him to file charges against the parents when they do not send their children to school.

TO RUN SUNDAY EXCURSIONS

Railroads Making Preparations For Busy Summer.

The railroads are making preparations now for many Sunday excursions this summer. These will start the first Sunday in June and continue until September. Some of the roads are planning a slightly more extensive program in these Sunday low rate trains, but most of them will offer the same as in 1913. J. C. Kelley, of Cincinnati, advertising agent of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton and the B. & O. is in Chicago now looking after the lithographing and printing of circulars for the excursions to be run over these lines. The other roads are getting their "literature" ready in expectation of an unusually busy Sunday traffic.

WILL INVESTIGATE CASE

Dr. Will C. Smith, county health officer, went to Manilla this afternoon to investigate a reported case of small pox. It was reported to him that Oscar Kulius of near Manilla is suffering from the disease and the health officer will look into the case to satisfy his own mind. According to the report that reached here the man has been ill for over a week and is reported to have been exposed to the disease which is prevalent in Shelby county. Dr. Smith does not believe it is small pox.

4 REASONS FOR BELIEVING GOD

Advanced by the Rev. L. A. Harriman at St. Paul M. E. Church Revival Now in Progress.

SACREDNESS STILL EXISTS

Speaker Declares His Belief in Divinity of Christ—Will Preach Again Tonight.

The revival meetings at the St. Paul Methodist church are growing in attendance and in interest. Last night the attendance was the best since the meeting began. There was a deep interest also in the singing and the preaching.

The Rev. Mr. Harriman preached the sermon the text being, Acts 27:25, "Wherefore be of Good Cheer For I Believe God." The words were spoken by Paul to cheer up those who were shipwrecked with him.

The speaker said he liked the words for they savored of the salt air and the sea breeze. He compared the storm to the storm in present day theological thought and spoke of the danger to which Christian belief was continually subjected.

First, he said he believed in the Scriptures. Modern thinking had changed our ideas of the Bible and our interpretations, yet we were warranted in still believing in the sacredness of this book he declared. It was as a message from God despite its inaccuracies, and new interpretations, he added.

In the second place, he said he believed in the divinity of Christ. There was a tendency in modern thought to strip Christ of his divinity, but he must be more than a man if he is to save men declared Mr. Harriman.

"He believed also in the welfare of the righteous," continued the speaker. "The way for the righteous was straight and narrow. It was a way of self-denial and sacrifice. Yet it was the best way and should be coveted by all."

Last of all he believed in the punishment of the wicked. He did not believe in a literal fire and brimstone, but he thought the wicked could be assured that there was a hell of some kind for them. The fact was, he said, that they would take their hell with them.

This afternoon Mr. Harriman conducted the daily bible reading. His subject was "The Law of Service." The attendance was large. Tonight Mr. Harriman will preach again. His subject will be, "The Most Astonishing Statement in the Bible." He will also sing "The Pilot Song."

INDICTMENT FALLS FLAT

Grand Jury Charge Against Milroy Man Dismissed in Court Today.

The cases against George Root and John Jackman of Milroy, charged with public intoxication, which were to have been heard today by Judge McGee, were dismissed on motion of Prosecutor Smith this morning when they were called. In the written motion to dismiss Prosecutor Smith told the court that after investigating the charges he did not believe there was sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction. The men were indicted by the grand jury at the September term of court.

"PALL" TURNS BIG FLIP FLOP

Richmond Newspaper Comes to Sudden Conclusion That Finly Gray Will be Nominated.

STOOD FOR HIM 4 YEARS AGO

But Few Months Ago Announced There Was a Great Uprising Against Him—Sudden Change.

The Richmond Palladium has turned a sudden flip flop and is now certain that Finly Gray will be nominated for congress by the Democrats of the sixth district at the convention which will be held in Cambridge City Tuesday, March 31. The Palladium said so yesterday.

The Palladium fought Gray's battles for him when he was first a candidate, favoring him as to the Republican candidate. Last year the Palladium stood for the Progressive candidate and a few months ago the Palladium decided there was a great uprising against Gray all over the district. The Palladium was certain he could never be nominated.

Then there was a lull. It has extended over a period of several weeks. Yesterday the extreme quiet was broken. With the three column "spread" on the front page, in black face type, the Palladium announced: "Gray Whips Enemies; Democratic Congressman Holds District, Stifles Opposition by Effective Work. Assured of His Nomination March 31; County Workers Placated."

And so it runs. The Palladium devotes a column and a half on the front page to the story. No one will likely attempt to account for the sudden change of sentiment on the part of the Palladium. There is no sign here that the opposition to Gray has lessened in the least. The Palladium says in part:

Finly Gray, of Connersville, member of congress from the Sixth Indiana district, will again, for the third time, be the Democratic candidate for congressman. Furthermore, there is every indication he will be renominated without opposition. These predictions are justified by the result of a careful investigation of political conditions throughout the district.

No longer than a month ago there was determined opposition to the re-nomination of Mr. Gray, for various reasons, but this has disappeared. Democratic leaders confidently assert. Hence the certainty that his name will be the only one presented for the nomination at the congressional convention to be held at Cambridge City, March 31.

Mr. Gray stamped out the revolt against him, however, only after considerable activity on his part, and it is no secret, that for a time that he was greatly alarmed for fear his political future had gone on the rocks. He rallied his office holders to his rescue, and considerable missionary work finally saved the day.

The greatest opposition to Mr. Gray was in Wayne county. His Richmond postoffice appointment made some enemies for him, other party leaders took up arms against him for his break on the congressional wedding gift for Miss Wilson.

Lon Mull of Rush county, who has heard the buzzing of the congressional bee for several years, stood ready to take the field against Gray if a satisfactory opportunity ever presented itself, but when he saw the masterful way Mr. Gray waged war against his opponents, he wisely decided that the time was not ripe for him to make a second attempt to capture the congressional nomination.

Verdict in Gilbert Arson Case is Anticipated by Tonight.

(By United Press.)

Evansville, Ind., Mar. 13.—A verdict of acquittal in the Gilbert arson case was expected this afternoon when the jury took the case. Dr. William H. Gilbert was ably assisted today by Miss Jessie Shawler of New York, with whom he had been keeping company before the trial. She testified that the night of the fire that burned the sanatorium, Dr. Gilbert was attending her mother and that he remained at Mrs. Shawler's bedside several nights previous to the fire. Miss Shawler made a good impression on the jury. The defense closed its case early this afternoon.

Two other members of the band were wounded by the officers' bullets and were captured. They are being rushed to Princeton, Ill., in an auto to escape lynching at the hands of angry citizens.

DEPOSITIONS ARE ACCEPTED

Testimony of Persons Not in Congregation of Bloomington Pastor Reported to be Heard.

TRIAL ON AT MARTINSVILLE

Understood Prosecution Closed at Noon and Case Will End Tonight—Verdict is Uncertain.

(By United Press.)

Martinsville, Ind., Mar. 13.—The trial of the Rev. John R. Ellis before the Indianapolis Presbytery on the charge that he had conducted himself questionably with regard to young women in Bloomington where he was the pastor of a fashionable church, continued today with unabated secrecy.

It leaked out that the committee had accepted the depositions of witnesses not of the pastor's congregation and it also was believed the prosecution closed at noon, though this could not be stated with certainty.

Many believed that the trial would be closed tonight though no assurance could be given a verdict would be forthcoming.

Martinsville, Ind., Mar. 13.—The commission appointed by the Indianapolis Presbytery to hear the charges against the Rev. John R. Ellis, former pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Bloomington, after hearing testimony all day yesterday, went into executive session last night to decide whether to admit the sworn statements of a number of Bloomington residents as testimony. Included in the depositions were three from Bloomington women.

The Rev. Mr. Ellis resigned his pastorate at Bloomington last fall after an investigation had been made concerning his conduct with women of that city.

The special commission decided to

The Double Guarantee

When you buy a standard, nationally advertised article from a merchant of standing and character you are buying with double protection to yourself.

You have a double guarantee to fall back on—that of the manufacturer and that of the man who sells the goods.

You of course have to deal only with the store from which you buy; the store, in turn, looks to the manufacturer to make good for any deficiency.

It is not often that anyone will have need of the guarantee; for when a thing is sold by such open and above-board methods it is going to be as nearly right as it can possibly be made.

There is a protection in buying advertised goods that there isn't in buying those which are not advertised.

The best guide to reliable buying is the advertising in like newspapers like The Daily Republican.

More people are reading advertising every day because it pays.

CASE AGAINST WAGONER HEARD

Knightstown Woman Seeks to Recover Judgment From Former Marshal.

BONDSMAN IS ALSO PARTY

Evidence Shows "Coony" Reiser Had Planned to Make His Get-Away—Before Special Judge.

The case of Miss Mary C. Shaeffer of Knightstown against the Fidelity Deposit Company of Maryland and Peter Wagoner, former marshal of Knightstown, for $300, which represents the costs and the judgment rendered Miss Shaeffer recently against Earl ("Coony") Reiser on a paternity charge, was heard in circuit court today before Special Judge M. E. Forkner, says the Newcastle Courier.

Last June a paternity charge was sworn out against Reiser and he was placed under arrest and taken before Rufe Davis, justice of the peace in Wayne township. He was bound over to the Henry circuit court to face a paternity charge. On the way from the court room Reiser made his escape. Judgment was rendered against him in circuit court here later, but he could not be found. In order to collect the judgment, action was then brought against Wagoner and his bondsmen for the amount of the judgment on the grounds that Wagoner was negligent and allowed Reiser to escape.

During the trial of the case today it developed that Reiser had already made his plans to escape from the marshal and that his father, William Reiser, had engaged Fred Dalrymple, a liveryman, to meet his son north of the city. Dalrymple took the stand and acknowledged that he had driven Reiser to Shirley, where he was met by two men, who drove him to Lebanon. It is not known where Reiser is at this time.

Because of the questions of law involved in the case attorneys in the city are interested, as it is not very often that an officer is sued on a bond when a prisoner escapes. Wagoner claims that he allowed the prisoner to go into a rear room of O'Neill's pool room and that Reiser took the advantage and left. Charles Martin, a night watchman of Knightstown, testified that he saw Reiser running down the street as fast as he could.

Milady Will Be Ruffles from Top to Toe If She Follows Dame Fashion

By Margaret Mason

(Written for United Press.)

She ruffles her coats and she ruffles her frocks

She ruffles her hats and they ruffle her locks

She ruffles her sleeves and her bodice so low

While her temper is easily ruffled also

New York, March 13.—To be fashionable you must be ruffled up from top to toe. We have been straight lined and slimseye, and sleek so long that once the break was made there has been a mad revolt from the straight and narrow. The consequence is an amazing eruption of ruffles on all the Spring frocks and hats.

While most of the ruffling on the gowns catches you on the hip following the approved hippy out line of the tunic, puff and pannier, others begin at the knee and take a crooked and bias path to the waist line. Some of the ruffles have even dared to break into that narrow zone about the ankles and on some of the newest taffeta models they ripple three deep about the feet bounded only by the straight and narrow, plain uncompromising hem.

For the skirt ruffles, net or the taffeta, from which the entire gown is built, are the approved materials. For the wrist ruffles and those outlining the low bodices the same materials are the thing, although lace is also popular. The neck frills evolved from the taffeta medium are very chic but not as full as those of the thinner fabrics.

The new suit coats are all cut with a flaring circular ruffle around the bottom when the suit is of serge or the heavier twilled silks. When the suit is of the omnipresent taffeta the coats are finished with ruffles as full and flamboyant as the law allows.

Separate silk wraps of flowered or plain silk are very quaint with kimono top and deep ruffles two or three deep set on from the yoke line to the finish. The loose sleeves of these wraps end in deep ruffles while an upstanding one finishes the neck.

As for the hats the small turban shapes almost all boast an upstanding ruff of either taffeta or net while the brimmed ones have ruffles of lace net or taffeta gathered around their crowns and fluffy veiling their brims.

When you have donned a suit whose short jacket is finished with two fitted circular ruffles and whose skirt is just one fitted circular ruffled after another, then topped it off with a tiny turban of hemp with an upstanding ruff of black net, you certainly present a fashionable but seareely a calm and unruffled appearance.

Hardly in the hat class but still something that goes to your head is the new tulle halo made up for all fashionable sinners in imitation of saintlier models. It is fashioned of a tulle ruff that stands out from the face in the most approved fashion.

Since we have taken to halos it is no wonder that waistlines are again striving to lead higher life. For evening gowns and in fact for all dressy occasions the high waist is again de rigueur although the normal line still clings triumphant about your middle for middle day wear.

After the surfeit of wide girdles and sashes galore it is a promised relief from monotony that many Parisian dressmakers and designers are now favoring narrow inch-and-a-half girdles or rather belts and in many instances no girdle at all but simply a line of joining between the blouse and skirt. Of course the girdles will not submit to annihilation without a struggle and so it is putting forth new lures and fascinations to hold its devotees.

Not the least of these charmers is a girdle composed of two and three shades or contrasting colors. One in a sweet pea shade of pink is adorable. In three shades of green, yellow, or American beauty tints these girdles are indeed lovely and it is well to have at least one about you even if the rest of your wardrobe is girdleless.

It is sad to relate, but waistlines on sport and top coats absolutely refuse to be elevated like the rest of their ilk. They have sunk to the lowest depths. Even the belts that hang around them have fallen into their low ways and slump loosely and discouragingly in the rear.

EXPORTS MAKE GREAT ADVANCE

Merchandise Shipped From U. S. Increased More Last 10 Years Than Thirty Years Previous

GAIN OF A BILLION DOLLARS

Miscellaneous Manufactures, Chiefly Iron and Steel, are Largest Contributors to Gain.

Special to the Daily Republican.

Washington, March 13—Exports of merchandise from the United States made a greater advance during the last ten years than in the 30 years from 1873 to 1903. In 1873 the total exports were valued at $68 million dollars; in 1903, $485 million; and 1913, $2,484 million—a gain of $17 million in the 30 years from 1873 to 1903, and of approximately one billion dollars in the 10 years ended with December last.

To this gain of practically one billion dollars in foreign sales of American products during the decade ended with December, raw cotton and miscellaneous manufactures chiefly of iron and steel, copper, wood and mineral oil, were the large contributors, the five classes named representing about one-half of the total increase during the period named.

The ten leading classes of articles exported from the United States in 1913, arranged in order of magnitude and stated in millions of dollars, are reported by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce as follows: Raw cotton, 575; iron and steel, 294; breadstuffs, 203; meat and dairy products, 161; mineral oils, 149; copper, 145; wood manufactures, 110; coal and coke, 71; leather and leather goods, 60; and tobacco, raw and manufactured, 60. When to this group are added cars and carriages, $8 million dollars; cotton goods, 56; agricultural implements and machinery, 35; fruits and nuts, 34; electrical machinery and appliances, 28; chemicals, drugs and medicines, 27; naval stores, 22; vegetable oils, 21; paper manufactures thereof, 21; India rubber manufactures, 14; and fertilizers, 12 million dollars, about 90 per cent. of the aggregate.

exportation of the year has been accounted for.

Raw cotton easily maintained its leading position in the list of American exports. On the other hand, breadstuffs fell from second position in 1903 to third in 1913; and meat and dairy products, from third position to fourth, each of these groups having been passed meantime by iron and steel, which advanced from fourth to second place during the decade.

Comparing the figures of 1913 with those of 1903, raw cotton exports gained 196 million dollars, or 52 per cent., this being a natural result of the world's increasing consumption of cotton goods, for the manufacture of which the United States supplies over two-thirds of the raw material. Iron and steel manufacturers gained 195 million dollars, or about 200 per cent., machinery and engines being the largest factors. Mineral oils made an advance of 76 million dollars, or over 100 per cent.; copper manufacturers, 101 million, or 200 per cent.; and wood manufacturers, 52 million dollars, or about 90 per cent. Breadstuffs barely held their own in value of exports during the decade, with a gain of 3 million dollars; and but for the marked advance in barley, oats, and rice would have actually declined, since the exports of corn fell from 95 to 47 million and those of wheat from 160 to 155 million bushels during the decade. Meat and dairy products fell in value of exports from 181 to 161 million dollars during the period under review, and cattle from 38 to 1 million dollars. There was no corresponding decrease in production of breadstuffs and food animals, and the smaller exportation are therefore due, in large measure, to the increasing proportion of the population engaged in manufacture, transportation, and the nonproductive industries, thus leaving a smaller proportion available for agricultural pursuits.

Increased exports are common to all branches of American manufactures. One of the largest gains occurred in cars and carriages which quintupled during the decade, chiefly due to the rapid development of the automobile industry during the last ten years. Electrical machinery trebled, cotton goods doubled, leather and manufacturers thereof practically doubled, and agricultural implements, paper manufactures, and naval stores each increased about 50 per cent. India-rubber manufacturers are two and a half times as great as in 1903; fruits and nuts about 70 per cent. more than a decade ago; and proprietary medicines are being exported in constantly increasing quantities.

Europe is the primary destination of about three-fifths of our total exports. The total to that grand division in 1913 was $1.4 billion dollars, and to all other parts of the world, about 1 billion. To North America the exports aggregated 601 million dollars, of which two-thirds went to Canada; to South America, 147 million, chiefly to Argentina and Brazil; to Asia, 126 million, of which one-half to Japan and one-fifth to China; to Oceania, 82 million, chiefly to Australia and the Philippines; and to Africa, 29 million dollars.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for their kindness shown in the sickness and death of our darling baby; also Mr. Wyatt and Rev. Meacham.

CONTAINS TRAP FOR TAX DODGER

Schedule Assessors Carry This Year Asks Where Persons Was Assessed Last Year.

ONLY ONE ANSWER TO BE MADE

Some New Things Are Added to The List, Persons on Whom Assessors Have Called Learn.

On the assessment sheet or "schedule" which property owners will be required to fill out this year is the inquiry:

"Where were you assessed last year?"

And therein lies a trap for some of the tax dodgers. They must answer that question and they cannot answer it any way except, truthfully. If the wrong place of assessment is given in answer to that question it will be easily discovered by the assessor, in going back to last year to see if anything scheduled last year has been left out of this year's schedule.

This is a new question. The form of this question before has been:

"Where did you live last fall?"

Exceptions were taken to the old question. No one cares where the property owner lived. The assessment was not made at that time and the property owner might have lived in California even though he had been assessed in Jackson township in March last year.

In giving the name and address on the assessment list this year there must be specific notation of whether the property owner lives in the township and there has been much confusion and difficulty in tracing assessments and ownership of property in the past. In the old assessment list blanks there was provision only for the township named.

Down below on the first blank of the sheet under these first two changes will be found another change, which, while it does not effect the property owners so greatly will avoid the possibility of his being taxed twice for property improvements.

In the past there has been a blank space to list a total of personal property and also below it a place for listing additional improvements to ready. These improvements when made are listed in the auditor's office and are there listed for taxation, without thinking the assessors takes the assessment list filled out by the property owner and makes a total of the personal property and the "additional improvements." The property owner is taxed on that total. Thus he has twice been taxed for "Additional improvements."

Questions No. 20, "Number of maple sugar equipment and value"; No. 22, "Number of cider mills and presses and value"; No. 25, "Number of fanning mills and value" are new. They have not been on the list until this year.

The property owner now is asked how many washing machines and their value. In the modern use of cement blocks he is required to tell how many cement block machines and concrete mixers, and their value. These two questions were not in the old blanks, and are numbered, 43 and 60 in the new blanks.

In giving lists of stock in the new blank there are three questions that are now believed necessary. They ask for listing of the number of horses, mules and cows under one year old. There were three questions which asked the number of horses, mules and cows more than one year old in the old blank.

STOCK NOT SOLD.

The shoe stock of John Reardon was to have been sold yesterday to the highest bidder at a bankrupt sale, but due to the fact that none of the bids received amounted to two-thirds the appraised value, the stock was not sold. It will be necessary to wait for orders from the referee in bankruptcy.

WORDS FROM HOME

Statements That May be Investigated. Testimony of Rushville Citizens.

When a Rushville citizen comes to the front, telling his friends and neighbors of his experience, you can rely on his sincerity. The statements of people residing in far away places do not command your confidence. Home endorsement is the kind that backs Dean's Kidney Pills. Such testimony is convincing. Investigation proves it true. Below is a statement of a Rushville resident. No stronger proof of merit can be had.

M. Conner, 1001 N. Harrison St., Rushville, Ind., says: "I had back-ach and pains through my loins and my kidneys were irregular in action. Hearing about Dean's Kidney Pills, I used them. They stopped the pains and regulated the kidney action."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Dean's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Conner had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

MRS. W. W. LAKE

Tells Others How to Get Strong and Well.

Mrs. W. W. Lake of Aberdeen, Miss., says: "The grippe had left me in a weak, run-down condition from which I suffered for some time. I tried different remedies but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Mrs. Lake's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from the cods' mucus and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol, and her cough disappeared as a natural result.

We guarantee that Vinol will do all we claim and will pay back your money if Vinol does not satisfy you. F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists Rushville, Ind.

admit the minister, his wife and three sons to the trial. Prof. E. E. Ramsey, principal of the Bloomington High School, and Prof. Oscar H. Williams, history teacher in the same school, were admitted as representatives of the Bloomington congregation in the Presbyterian church. All others were barred from the meeting and the sessions were behind locked doors.

Prof. Ramsey acted as prosecutor for the congregation and was assisted by Prof. Williams. Edward Ellis, son of the minister, a law student of Indiana University, acted as attorney for his father. The greater part of yesterday afternoon was taken up in the opening statements made by Profs. Williams and Ramsey, who outlined the case. Each spoke about two hours and were frequently interrupted by the minister, who fired questions at them.

Postmaster O. H. Cravens of Bloomington, publisher of the World-Courier of that city, was the only witness used yesterday afternoon. He testified that in company with his reporter he visited the minister at his study and obtained a statement for his paper from Edward Ellis. When asked what the mental condition of the minister was at the time the statement was made. Mr. Cravens replied that it was about the same as it is now, and that the preacher seemed worried.

MILROY LOST.
(By United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., Mar. 13.—The Milroy high school was put out of the running for the state championship in the first game it played, going down in defeat before the Albion high school, 61 to 8. The Milroy team was outclassed and the score against them was the second largest of the day. The game was played at ten o'clock this morning.

Connersville was also eliminated by Marco, 34 to 10.

By H. T. Sullivan
(Written for United Press.)

Bloomington, Ind., March 13—Dopesters have thrown reams of paper into the discard and worn out dozens of lead pencils trying to figure out what high school basketball team would carry off the state championship tomorrow night in the state tournament which opened here at 7 o'clock this morning. After all their figuring of percentages and comparative playing they shake their heads and say some team representing a village, unheard of before, may take that occasion to put its town on the athletic map, as did Whipple last year.

Some of the seventy-seven teams entered, the faculty managers and supporters began to arrive early yesterday. Shortly before noon today more than 2,000 rooters and players were here to participate in the greatest high school athletic event ever pulled off in the state. High school colors ran riot and mixed with the decorations of the business houses down town, which displayed the cream and crimson of Indiana University and the Purple and white of the Bloomington high school.

Entertainments of the visitors has proved a difficult problem for the Booster's club for the University to handle. Fraternities, sororities, dormitories, and student rooming houses are packed. Local hotels are turning away applicants for rooms after filling the halls with cots. The people of the city, at the request of the Commercial club, have thrown open their homes in an effort to shelter and feed the large crowd of visitors.

Playing began on floors at 7 o'clock this morning. The teams are using the men's gymnasium, the auditorium of the Student Building, the women's gymnasium and the armory, which is a mile from the university. All are in good condition and should afford each team an opportunity to show its full strength.

Practically all of the seventy-seven teams are conceded to have a chance. Many surprises are expected. Teams which have gone through the season with records that look good on paper are expected to collapse while some who do not look so good on the dope sheet are expected to finish high.

Evansville, New Orleans, Lafayette, Decatur, Anderson, Fairmount, Culver, Crawfordsville and Bloomington are entering the meet with unusually strong teams and expect to be runners up. While Wingate is not expected to carry off the championship again, dopesters all over the state have their eyes on Stonebreaker, the giant center who tossed the championship to his team last year.

Orleans enters the tourney with a perfect score having won every game on the schedule. The fast Evansville squad has defeated practically all the strongest teams in the southern part of the state. Bedford alone defeating them early in the season. Lafayette has been showing class recently taking in the South Bend five which was a strong bidder for honors last year.

Decatur has the strongest team in the history of the school losing only to Bluffton and Marion early in the season. Marion and Kokomo have been playing games that will make them difficult propositions to eliminate. Fairmount has been defeating some of the strongest teams in the state with comparative ease and is expected to climb several rungs toward the final contest.

Playing on floors that are familiar to the Bloomington quintet, the fastest school team they have ever had, is expected to stay in the running well toward the finish. The team has played unusually fast ball and has lost only to the strongest teams by small margins. With three regulars out of the tournament Manual Training High School's hopes are almost quashed.

The team that gets off with a good start and gets the approval of the disinterested portion of the spectators is generally conceded to be the one which will receive the large mounted shield and the individual medals after the final contest tomorrow night.

BOYS SENT HOME.

The police this afternoon caught three runaway boys from Indianapolis and started them toward home. They started to Dayton, O., got as far as Connersville and then came back here. The boys were: Don Ray, William Murray and John Hutton.
